Resident engagement

Waterside House

Customers are at the heart of everything we do, and effective engagement is key to helping us achieve this. As you live in a building which is either seven stories or 18 meters high, we have created a customer engagement strategy for Waterside House. Below is a shortened version of our strategy outlining the main points.

The information we will share:

- The fire safety systems installed and how they operate.
- Evacuation procedure.
- What to do in an emergency.
- Keeping you informed of fire and building safety improvements.

The information will be shared with all residents (16 or over) living in a higher risk building. Property owners who do not live in the building will also be sent information to their preferred postal address.

For more important safety information for Waterside House (1-55), as well as some useful information about the building and how to report issues, please scan the QR code above or use this link.

When we will communicate with you:

- Immediately with any changes that could impact your safety.
- Regularly before and during building safety works to consult with you and keep you informed of start and end dates along with progress.
- Quarterly we will write to all residents with a general building safety update.
- Six monthly resident engagement drop-in sessions at the Community Centre, where free tea and coffee will be made available.
- Annually you will receive a questionnaire where you can share your feedback on how safe you feel in your building and how well we are engaging with you.

Resident responsibilities

The Building Safety Act outlines the responsibilities placed on residents (16 or over) and flat owners to assist with maintaining building safety. A resident must not act in a way that creates a significant risk of a building safety risk materialising and must not interfere with, damage, or remove any safety equipment. Residents must also comply with a request that is made for information that may help to keep a building safe and allow access when the accountable person makes a reasonable request to carry out works to the building.

Customer complaints, compliments and comments

Whilst we want to provide excellent customer service and always aim to get things right first time, we accept that sometimes we can do things better. Should you have a comment, complaint or compliment you can let us know using buildingsafety@livewest.co.uk.
